

College of Medicine – Phoenix Gold Humanism Honor Society Medical Student Peer Nomination Form

A multi-institutional study published in Academic Medicine revealed that a peer nomination survey given to medical students can be used to select for student exemplars who manifest characteristics of clinical competence, caring and community service. Important themes from this survey are listed below.

Kindly submit the name of three students from your class who would best fit the descriptors below. Try to make your choices quickly and spontaneously.

- The classmates you would like to have work at your side in a medical emergency.
- The classmates who best personify the quote “The secret of good patient care lies in caring for the patient.”
- The classmates you would want as the doctor for yourself or a loved one.

I nominate:

Completion of the survey is voluntary.

Ref: McCormack WT, Lazarus MD, Stern D, Small PA. Peer nomination: a tool for identifying medical student exemplars in clinical competence and caring, evaluated at three medical schools. Academic Medicine 2007; 82(11):1033-39.